How may a student use the ARP emergency financial aid grant?

Emergency financial aid grants may be used by students for any component of their cost of attendance or for emergency costs that arise due to coronavirus, such as tuition, food, housing, health care (including mental health care) or childcare. Students determine how they may use their emergency financial aid grant within the allowable uses.

If you meet the following eligibility, the Financial Aid Office will notify you the week of July 26 that you will be receiving funds. If you do not receive notification from the Financial Aid Office, this means you are not eligible to receive this funding.

There are two eligibility requirements. A student must meet both requirements to receive ARP funds:

1. *The student must have been enrolled at Gannon University on or after March 13, 2020, the date of declaration of the national emergency due to the coronavirus (i.e. Returning students) AND

Please expect future communications to follow regarding this plan after the start of the fall semester.*

How do I apply for ARP funds?

Students do not need to apply for ARP funds. Awards will be distributed automatically for all eligible students beginning at the end of July 2021.

How will award amounts be determined?

The university will use a tiered awarding scale for determining ARP awards. Based on the 2021 FAFSA, full-time undergraduates will receive an ARP award ranging between $300 and $2,000. Part-Time students will receive an award ranging between $150 - $1,000. Graduate students will receive an award ranging between $300 - $600.

If eligible, how much should I expect to receive?

For undergraduate students, awarding tiers will be based on a student’s expected family contribution (EFC) and enrollment status for the 21/Fall semester. Your EFC is an index number that measures a student’s and the family’s ability to pay postsecondary expenses. The information you report on your FAFSA, including specific tax information and family income, is used to calculate your EFC. Graduate students will receive an award ranging between $300 - $600, regardless of EFC or enrollment status. Please note that eligibility and award values were based on a student’s EFC and enrollment status as of Thursday, July 15, 2021.
